On Making Rain.
England's Black Cloud.
Mrs. Astor "Immigrant"

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

Mr. Cole, formerly member of the Royal Air Force, announces at Port Arthur, Ontario, a scheme for making rain.

He intends "to spray the clouds with liquid air." He and his father are forming "an aerial irrigation company" to produce rain at will.

It may interest Mr. Cole to know that about twenty years ago, before the flying machine had been perfected, this writer suggested the use of exactly that scheme, the idea being to use lighter-than-air balloons or high towers, with explosive shells to scatter the "liquid air." The plan was developed on paper, with Merrill Goddard, editor of the Sunday American, to the point where it was shown that it would work.

This may save Mr. Cole expense. Needless to say, like all other inventors, the writer has an improvement on the plan which he firmly believes will work, and which probably won't.

In England has come the real crisis. It interests the whole world. A million coal men are striking. Labor, which is now as "fully class conscious" in England as ever was the German Social Democratic Party before the war, may back the coal miners with a general strike.

The first day after the strike fifty are injured in a clash in London.

There are black clouds over Britain, with the troubles in the Far East, arising among Asiatics ruled by England, war in Ireland and the workers of England threatening.

The English have in Lloyd George as able and resourceful a leader as there is in the world, undoubtedly. But when a crowd of bona fide workers in London carry the red flag, when the most powerful leader next to Lloyd George, Smilley, of the miners, talks of taking over the property of the nation on what is practically a Russian "Soviet" basis, the situation may be too much even for the resourceful Lloyd George.

Certainly when that gentleman comes to die he will end a busy, eventful life.

First, he worked for the rich. They hated him because as chancellor of the exchequer he put them on their feet with wise taxation. Then he carried England through the war, skillfully manipulating the United States, among other nations as he did it.

Now the workers have turned against him, and denounce him as the wealth of England denouncing him ten years ago. And Northcliffe, most powerful individual in England, is helping to push Lloyd George over the edge.

If he goes over the edge, the British Empire, as it now stands, may go with him. It is a house divided against itself.

Mr. McAdoo is advocating the League of Nations. He says: "But he would not have lived any of his prosperous clients to take in forty bankrupt partners and give them control. That is what Uncle Sam would do, if the league became law."

McAdoo says that if we don't enter the league we shall have to spend a great deal of money arming ourselves against attack. Possibly, but we should have to be armed anyhow, and especially if we were in the league. It is better to decide our own preparations for war, making our own appropriations, than to have a foreign council telling us what we shall spend and where and against whom we shall do the fighting.

As a matter of fact, with a strong navy, including flying machines and submarines, we need not worry about attack.

If any European nation wanted to fight us now, it would first have to borrow from us the money for fighting. Even England would hardly try to negotiate that kind of a loan.

"Mrs. Astor" accompanied by many "nobles," will board the incoming Adriatic ship down to the steamer, and through the full procedure to which the alien arriving in this country is subjected." So said the announcement.

Mrs. Astor did nothing of the kind, she could not. With commissioner of immigration at one side, the president of the Merchants' Association at the other, with her benevolent smile and her nice face, Mrs. Astor was NOT pushed in the ribs and told "wait over there until you are wanted." She was not handled as they handle huffers at the stock yards. She went through her little experience, as Catherine of Russia traveled, when they showed her in the distance, "prosperous cities" that were painted on signboards.

The only way to "know the full procedure to which an alien immigrant is subjected" is to be an alien immigrant. Then you get the whole procedure.

According to an Italian scientist, liquid hydrogen gas is the coming fuel for motor vehicles.

"EVEN HARDING HAS ADMITTED ARTICLE 10 COULD NOT CALL U. S. TO WAR"—COX

(International News Service.)

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 21.—Governor Cox today discussed Article 10 to the exclusion of nearly all else, branding as deliberate misrepresentation the contention of opponents of the league who seek to prove that the constitutional rights of Congress to declare war are abrogated by that provision of the covenant, and quoted freely from authorities to prove his charges.

"Even Harding, on one of those rare occasions when he has been permitted to stray away from his front porch unchaperoned, has admitted that the League of Nations could not call the United States into war without the consent of Congress," Cox declared.

Cox Attacks Critics (The Associated Press.)

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 21.—Governor Cox today attacked critics of Article 10 of the league covenant here. He said that a national wide program of misrepresentation against Article 10 had been circulated.

He declared that Congress only, and not the League of Nations, has authority to declare war and that the league council's decisions must be unanimous and are merely advisory.

NEGRO RESIDENT DAYTONA FOR 45 YEARS DIED NORTH

Isiah Collier, colored resident of Daytona for the past 45 years, died in a hospital in Philadelphia Tuesday of this week. Collier has been for the past nine years chief at the Morgan House on Volusia avenue and had many friends among both races in the city.

He went north to Asbury Park each summer, working in one of the hotels at that resort. A week ago he started for Daytona, was taken ill on the train, went into a hospital at Philadelphia and died shortly afterward. His body will be shipped to his family in Daytona for burial.

Spent $1.55 for Ad. and Sold a House as Result

Harold U. Bond spent $1.55 for an advertisement in the Daily News advertising a house for sale on First street. F. W. Pope saw the advertisement as soon as the Daily News appeared on the streets and bought the house. Both Mr. Bond and Mr. Pope are firm believers in newspaper advertising as a result of the little advertisement having caused a "meeting of the minds" and the consequent transfer of the property.

Lack of Business Locations Keeping Many Stores Away

Some conception of the lack of store buildings in Daytona at this time may be gained from the fact that one location, in the Lyman building on Orange avenue, recently vacated by the failure of the Nelson Motors Electrical company has, it is reported, no less than six firms after it.

The same condition is true in almost every portion of the city, Daytona feeling the pinch of little business building of the past three years.

FOLLOW EXAMPLE OF THE WOMEN VOTERS

The example set by the women voters of Daytona to the men voters in that the women are studying faithfully every feature and issue of the present campaign, and are making it a point to fathom the complexities of the ballot which they will use in the coming election, is an example which the Daily News commends and one that they recommend to the men voters.

Improper marking of ballots is the cause, in every election of hundreds of votes being thrown out in the county, in spite of full directions printed on the ballot itself, the most common cause of loss of a vote being that the mark is placed after the name of the candidate, instead of before, or to the left.

It is a question whether there are many men today who could sit down and pick the straight Democratic list of candidates from the ballot which will contain the candidates of five parties. The names of the presidential electors, some thirty in number, will be printed in alphabetical order and their party connection indicated in no way, making it necessary for every prospective voter to memorize the names of those electors for whom he or she wishes to cast a vote. Unless this is done difficulty will be experienced in picking the names of those of any party.

Picking county candidates for either party is more simplified, and the Republican ticket has few candidates named. But this is not true in the state ticket, and it may be possible that many men who cast votes for state officers in the spring primary have forgotten the exact list of those whom they supported, when those names are mixed in with the names of candidates of other parties.

Specimen ballots will be published in the Daily News before election, so that a study may be made of the candidates, and this study is recommended to the men voters, as well as to the newly qualified women voters. The latter will make it a point to know for whom they are voting. Many men will not be so sure.

M'SWINEY ACTS AS IF HE DOESN'T LIKE BEING FED BRANDY

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—MacSwiney, still alive today on the 70th day of his hunger strike, was fed for the first time by Brixton jail staff physicians late Wednesday afternoon when he lapsed into unconsciousness.

A small amount of brandy and essence of beef were administered. MacSwiney had lost his sense of taste, but the food revived it. Regaining consciousness, he whispered to his sister, "I have been tricked." Paroxysms of delirium left the prisoner weaker but he seemed to revive slightly after the administration of beef extract and brandy.

Brooding over the administration of food, he again became delirious. Throughout the night he continued to feebly wave his arms, crying, "Take it away."

Still Delirious. (The Associated Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A later bulletin issued this afternoon said MacSwiney continues in a delirious state and that he fails to recognize relatives. His whole body is covered with scurvy.

Suggests Thrift Plan. (The Associated Press.)

As a part of the campaign, government officials would be called upon to practice utmost economy so as to reduce the expenditures of the federal government.

"The recent orgy of extravagance," declared the committee's report, "has indicated very clearly the need for more popular realization of the need for saving when and as the opportunity presents itself. The time is at hand when thrift and saving will be regarded as not only possibilities, but actual necessities."

Small savers are to be the chief source in financing the normal growth of commerce and industry, the report said, adding that present tax policies offer a serious check to increased investment by holders of large wealth.

During the noon adjournment of the railroad men, Thomas issued a statement warning the public of the menace of a rail strike.

He said the railwaymen were even now considering a sympathy strike. "I believe the industrial situation will develop the utmost seriousness if the strike spreads. Parliament should make an immediate effort to bring the hostile sides together. Every hour is precious now," said Thomas.

AN EXAMPLE FOR DAYTONA

(The Associated Press.)

By a decisive victory of 770 majority, the better element of the people of Tampa Tuesday adopted the commission-manager form of charter for the government of the city and overruled the political machine that has long dominated Tampa politics. The conditions in Tampa have been about the same as they are at present in Daytona. The city has been dominated by bosses, gamblers and bootleggers, who control the negro vote and thus reap the will of the white people. The same condition exists in Daytona.

Mayor Gordon, of Tampa, previous to his election, promised to stand by the wishes of the people if they wanted the commission-manager form of government. He took a decided stand against the campaign. Commissioner Weiss, of Daytona, made the same promise prior to his election. Mr. Weiss broke his promise and fought the commission-manager form of government when the matter was up for election a year ago last summer, and with the aid of his negro followers thwarted the will of a majority of the white people, and the charter was rejected. A few misinformed white people followed the lead of Titus, and now they are sorry.

Tampa's revolt from bossism should be an example for Daytona to emulate. That city will now proceed to elect five commissioners, one of whom will be elected mayor, and they will in turn hire a city manager. Prior to the election of the commissioners a wide primary will be held by the White Municipal party and nominations made for the offices of commissioners.

To the white women of Tampa, a great mistake was the credit for the forward step just taken by that city.

Wholesale Fruit

Produce Company

to Locate Here

The A. F. Deelman Company of Jacksonville, wholesale dealers in fruits and produce, will open a Daytona branch shortly to fulfill a long-felt want in the wholesale fruit line, and to afford farmers in the vicinity of Daytona a market for all their produce.

Mr. Young, representative of the firm, has been in the city for several days on the look-out for a location.
 He has secured the promise of a new building, which will be erected for his company in the vicinity of the depot, the site having already been purchased, work to commence immediately on the building.

The market for the sale of produce grown in this vicinity is one of the most progressive moves afforded the community, as it will be the means of placing on the local market produce raised here, which to a great extent has been shipped north formerly.

The Jacksonville representative was quick to see the possibilities for such a business here, and hopes within a month's time to have his location in shape to handle a large business in the wholesale fruit line.

Arcade Building Is Being Redecorated for Winter Season

One of the most active sections of the city at this time is that in which the arcade building is located, on Beach street, where a large number of improvements are being made. It is believed, however, that this section in as busy a section of activity as other portions of the business section.

Bankers Investment company, owners of the arcade building, for Chas. F. Burgman is local has made many improvements in the building, and is planning still more additions and improvements at the beginning of the winter season.

A new concrete floor has recently laid at the main entrance, all the interior of the building have been repainted and, in December the wood-work of the large hall will receive re-finishing.

In the location of Daytona's business, a cafeteria, on the floor, where Day's restaurant was located for several years, with the new Hurley market and in the former location of the Fish Market, a number of dining business places are added. Great addition to this section has the Pete Ladas building on the corner of Beach and Bay streets which afford a number of additional buildings and apartments.

Petersburg Men Spend Thousands Cafeteria Here

One of the most important changes in the city in many a month was made last evening, when Fred Johnson and T. C. McCutcheon, restaurateurs of St. Petersburg for the last five years, purchased the lease of E. Baya on the Arcade restaurant, and will remodel the restaurant into one of the largest and most modern cafeterias on the East Coast.

Johnson and McCutcheon intend to spend between $15,000 and $20,000 on the remodeling of the location, and in the purchase of entirely new equipment for the cafeteria, including none of the present equipment.

The sale of the lease which Mr. Baya held on the advantageous location was made by R. L. Smith & company, while Chas. F. Burgman, acting agent for the Bankers' Investment company, owners of the Arcade building. The lease is for three years in continuation of two years previously. Work will be immediately commenced on the removal of Mr. Baya's equipment which will be put up for sale, and the installation of the new style of fixtures, the lease beginning November 1st. The new proprietors hope to have the cafeteria in smooth running order within a few days.

The many years' experience of Fred Johnson and McCutcheon on the West Coast, where they made a success in this line, assures a success in Daytona, which, up to this time, has been without a cafeteria style of restaurant.

Opening of the People's Market, Monday, Oct. 23.

Wegner to Change Locations of His Two Grocery Stores

Otto H. Wegner will soon move his grocery store to 26 Volusia avenue and move the grocery store which is now located at that place to where his regular grocery store on Beach street is now located. Mr. Wegner plans to have a grocery store, meat market and deli at his Beach street location.

Cincinnati "Reds" May Play Here on Armistice Day

There is a strong possibility that Dayton baseball fans will see a revival of the sport on City Island within the next three weeks, with the Cincinnati Reds, 1919 world champions in action against an all-star major league team which is being organized for the winter sport here.

Fred C. Merkle, of the Chicago Cubs, who winters at Ormond each year, today wired the business management of the Reds, asking them to arrange their trip to Havana early in November so that they may obtain a three-day stop-off in Daytona to meet a team which he will organize among major league stars who will be in this vicinity at that time.

The Cincinnati National league team is due for one month's games in Havana and other parts of Cuba from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, and expect to go through here about Armistice Day, Nov. 11. Merkle talked over the possibility of the Reds stopping off here, with the Cincinnati manager some time ago, and his wife today to them is expected to bring a favorable answer, thus giving local fans a touch of the sport which should make some classy playing around the old stamping ground of the Daytona Islanders.

Merkle has asked the Reds to stay three days, and if possible to make one of those days Armistice Day. Until he hears from them definitely as to their schedule, it will not be known just when the Reds will be here.

May Have Winter League.
Merkle is most enthusiastic over the plan which has been talked here for some time regarding the organization of a winter league of East Coast towns. The officials of the Daytona club of the Florida State league has given Merkle permission to use the park on City Island, and the entire outfit of the local club. The Chicago Cub has hopes of raising a team among other major league players who will winter here, and others whom he hopes to induce to come down for the winter games.

Together with Secretary Pepper of the Chamber of Commerce, other towns on the East Coast are being lined up for the proposed league, which would include St. Augustine, West Palm Beach, Miami and possibly Fort Lauderdale, Cocoa and other good baseball towns. The league would be run entirely by the players, who would pay the salaries, and take receipts.

Merkle feels that there are many major league players who would come here for expense money for the winter, for the sport of playing in the South in the winter, to keep in condition, and if enough men can be raised, with the addition of those Florida State leaguers who are in the state, the league will be put through, furnishing Daytona and the East Coast a class of baseball second to none for the winter months.

Peninsula Daily Newspaper Will Appear Nov. 1

Through the co-operation of the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Chamber of Commerce the peninsula towns will have a daily newspaper for six months first day of November. On that date will appear the first issue of the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Daily News, published in connection with the Daytona Daily News. Offices will be maintained in the office of the Chamber of Commerce and Ben F. Miller, an experienced newspaper man, will be editor of the peninsula daily newspaper. In addition to covering the year at least, commencing the peninsula news in a thorough manner the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Daily News will also carry the superb telegraph service and other excellent features now carried in the Daytona Daily News.

Well-Known Hotel Woman Is Manager of the Volusia Inn

Geo. W. Waring, the new lessee of the Troy House, which will in future be known as the Volusia Inn, writes the Chamber of Commerce that Mrs. Ida C. Jones will be the manager of the newly purchased hotel during the winter season. Mrs. Jones has made Switzerland, N. C., famous along that coast as one of the finest summer resorts in the Carolina mountains and has had many years experience in the hotel business.

Many improvements to the Volusia Inn are planned by Mr. Waring, the addition of a number of baths and other conveniences, making the Volusia Inn one of the most attractive of the smaller hotels in the city.

Schulte Not the Man Looking for Building Capital

Having received a number of telephone and personal inquiries, asking if he was the man who, according to the Morning Journal was anxious to build a number of small cottages on a tract of land which he already owned, and was seeking capital for the financing of this project, H. B. Schulte, the president of the H. B. Schulte Realty company, states that he is not the man referred to and that he is not looking for any such loans, but on the other hand he would be very glad to have this man call at his office and would put him in touch with all the capital necessary for financing such a very commendable and essential idea.

Mr. Schulte has already obtained a large tract of land on the Daytona side of the river. This land he is going to develop into a subdivision suitable for the many salaried men and women in this vicinity who are looking for and must be able to rent homes suitable to their incomes.

Old Pillows Washed Into New Life

Pillows need more than an occasional airing.

Oils from the hair and scalp; soil from handling, dust from the air—all work through the ticking into the feathers, just as they do into your clothes.

Pillows need washing to remove this dust, accumulated through months—perhaps years—of constant use.

There are sound health reasons, too, why pillows should be washed at least as frequently as other heavy bedding.

Your family doctor will tell you that the purity of the air you breathe all night long depends upon the freshness of the pillow on which your head rests.

You send us a pillow soiled and lifeless. We return to you one that is sweet and fluffy, with feathers light and downy.

In our modern, andry your pillows are washed in their own ticks, first immersed in a cold rinse of soft, pure water; then given thorough washings in fleecy suds; next hot and cold rinses in clear, fresh water—and finally dried to luxurious softness in a current of warm, clean air.

Sweet, soft pillows mean better sleep and better health for yourself and your family. Send your pillows to us. Telephone today, and our driver will call.

Electric Power and Light; Street Car Fare
We spend many thousands of dollars every year for these services rendered to employees engaged in the maintenance of the property. Practically every year the rates charged by these companies have been substantially increased, and there is no prospect of any reduction. The Telephone Company, like all others, must pay these increased rates.

Paper, Printing and Stationery
We consume tons of paper for book-keeping, correspondence and directory purposes, and pay many thousands of dollars for printing annually. This item of expense has increased in percentage more than the others, and we are suggested that any reduction in these costs is probable.

Coal Bill
The Telephone Company purchases coal in large quantities to heat the buildings occupied by its employees in rendering the service. We, of course, must pay whatever price is necessary to secure the coal for this purpose.

Insurance
Even where the actual rate per one thousand dollars has not been increased, we are compelled to carry a larger amount of insurance than in pre-war days in order to protect ourselves in the event of any of the property which may be destroyed by fire, and this is reflected in a very large increase in the total insurance bill.

Taxes
This expense, both Federal, State, County and City, has increased every year we have been in business; the increase this year being unusually high. There is no probability of this expense being reduced.

Buildings
It is common knowledge that the cost of erecting any kind of building now, as well as making alterations and repairs, which constantly confront the Telephone Company and which involve material, labor, freight and hauling, is on an enormously higher plane than ever before. Insofar as the cost of materials may be reduced with this total cost be reduced.

Freight and Passenger Costs
Our annual expense for the transportation of freight and passengers is more than one million dollars. No one expects the railroads to reduce their charges under the level of costs in rendering their service.

Rent
Except in the larger centers, our central offices and stocks of material are housed in rented buildings, and even in the larger centers we rent varying amounts of properties.

Like every one else, our rents have been greatly increased, with no prospect of any reduction even in pre-war days all leases for property occupied by us were renewed only at higher charges than for the previous rental period.

Hotels
The board and lodging bill for our men, who must travel in connection with the operation and maintenance of the property, costs many thousands of dollars every year, and we can see no prospect of the hotels lowering their charges. Until they do we must pay the present high charges.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 16, 1920.
Mr. J. Epps Brown, President, Bell Telephone Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

I have read the advertisements of your Company, but I do not understand why you must raise your rates now, when the prices of everything else are falling. Will you please explain this?

Yours truly,

New Orleans, La., October 12, 1920.

Mr. J. Epps Brown, President, Bell Telephone Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of October 12th asks a very natural question, and one which demands a full and frank reply, which I am glad to make.

While the prices of a great many things have, apparently, been reduced, these reductions in prices do not apply to articles used by the telephone company, or affect the expenditures necessary in the construction, maintenance and operation of the telephone plant.

The following classes of expenses constitute more than ninety-five per cent of the cost of furnishing telephone service:

Labor
More than fifty-five per cent of the total expenditures of the Company in rendering service are for wages and salaries; less than one-tenth of one per cent of this being for executive and general salaries.

The wages paid to our employees can not, and should not, be reduced. On the contrary they must be increased, in many cases, to bring our wage scale on a level with wages paid by unregulated businesses, so that we may retain our skilled employees necessary to give you efficient service.

Material and Apparatus
Many items of material and apparatus are involved in the current maintenance of the property, entirely apart from the enormous quantities involved in the construction of new property, and this represents a large item of expense.

There has been no reduction, nor any indication of reduction, in the price of these essential articles, in practically all of which the labor, freight and hauling cost is by far the largest proportion of the total cost.

We know that the manufacturers of telephone equipment and material have orders booked for two years in advance, with a constantly increasing demand, and which in turn makes a reduction in price in the near future most improbable.
